2017 SUBSCRIPTION TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Online Edition:

NON-MEMBER INDIVIDUALS

All prices are for a single, non-member personal subscription.

Who Can Access the Journal: A non-member online subscription is an individual license and is for your personal use only. Sharing your Username and Password is not permitted. If lab members, colleagues, or students require access, please have your institution's librarian/information specialist contact our subscription department at publications@cshp.ca.

Activation Process: Online access is provided by Username and Password. For new subscribers, once your order and payment is received and processed, you will receive an email message with your subscription Username and Password. For renewing subscribers, you may continue to use the same Username and Password, which is active once payment is received and processed. If you are a renewing subscriber who does not know their customer Username and Password, please email publications@cshp.ca.

INSTITUTIONS

All prices are for a single site location. If your institution has multiple sites, each site must purchase a separate subscription. For multi-site institutions, please contact our subscription department at publications@cshp.ca for a quote.

Who Can Access the Journal: An institutional, online subscription allows unlimited simultaneous Internet access by only "authorized users" at one "site" location and does not permit remote campuses, remote sites, consortia, or other forms of subscription sharing. If your institution has multiple sites, each site must purchase a separate subscription.

Definition of an "authorized user": An "authorized user" is defined as employees, faculty, staff, students, and consultants of the one subscribing location, whether on a permanent, temporary, or contract basis, who are permitted to access the Secure Network from within the one subscribing location or from such other places where Authorized Users undertake their work for the one subscribing location (including but not limited to Authorized Users' offices and homes) and who have been issued by the one subscribing location with a password or other authentication.

Definition of a "site": A "site" is defined as an organizational unit and may be academic or non-academic. For organizations located in more than one city, each office is considered a different site and requires a separate subscription. For organizations within the same city that are administered independently, each office is considered a different site and requires a separate subscription. For example, each campus in the University of Alberta system is a different site, each branch or office of GlaxoSmithKline is a different site, and each institute of the National Institutes of Health is a different site.

Activation Process: Online access is provided by IP address. IP addresses for online access may only be entered for a range covering the individual library at a single location. For new subscription orders, once your payment is received and processed, you will receive an email message with online subscription(s) details. As part of the activation process, you will be asked to provide valid IP addresses for the authorized users at the subscribing "site" only. For renewing subscribers, online access is active once payment is received and processed. If you are a renewing subscriber who does not know their customer details, please email publications@cshp.ca.

How IPs can be supplied: Valid values include an IP address (e.g., 142.58.103.1), IP range (e.g., 142.58.103.1 – 142.58.103.4), IP range with wildcard '' (e.g., 142.58..*), and an IP range with CIDR (e.g., 142.58.100.0/24).

CANCELLATION POLICY

Only the unserviced portion of subscriptions will be refunded until May 1, 2017. After May 1, 2017, no portion of subscriptions will be refunded.
